Only one click away Verden Auction Online in July

Verden. The riding horses of the next Verden Auction Online are in the starting blocks. 57 young dressage and show jumping talents will be auctioned on July 15. At the beginning of the week, they moved into their boxes in the Niedersachsenhalle and can now be tried out by appointment. From Sunday, July 9, the first bids for the future four-legged dream partners can be placed on the internet. The final bid up will start on Saturday, July 15, at 2 pm CET.

Professional riders appreciate them, amateurs love them – the collection of the Verden Auction Online on July, 15. And that is no coincidence, as it has the matching horse for every rider. Dressage and show jumping riders as well as leisure riders will find a horse from the varied selection. A total of 40 young dressage horses, some of them already successful in competitions, as well as 17 show jumping specialists are waiting for their new owners.

The training and presentation schedule has changed for the July auction and has been adapted to the customers' wishes. The horses can be viewed in daily training and then individually test ridden. On Saturday, July 8, the only live presentation of the dressage and show jumping horses will take place, which will also be broadcast on the internet. On Wednesday, July 12, the show jumpers and the dressage horses with double disposition will make their appearance in the free jumping from 10 am. This will also be streamed and customers all over the world will be able to see the impressive scope of the show jumpers for themselves. From 2 p.m., the individual training of all auction horses is on the schedule and replaces the live presentation.
