Hannoveraner Championships in Verden

Verden. From July 6 to 8 the time has come: The Hannoveraner Championships for riding, dressage and show jumping horses will be held in Verden. The riding horses will compete for the coveted tickets to the Bundeschampionat. The open dressage tests for young horses are also qualifications for Warendorf. In addition, the best ponies from Hannover will be competing to determine their champions. The Hannoveraner Championships in Verden will be broadcast live on the internet at ClipMyHorse.TV.

There will be a lot of excitement in the dressage arena as well as in the show jumping course. Traditionally, the riding horse tests are of particular interest. Three- and four-year-old mares and geldings compete for the title, stallions demonstrate their skills in their own championship. It is not only about the yellow and white winner's sashes, but also about the coveted tickets to the Bundeschampionat for riding horses. The candidates are nominated by representatives of the Hannoveraner Verband after the Riding Horse Championships.

Not only the Hannoveraner Champions will be determined in the dressage horse classes. The qualifiers for the Bundeschampionat for five- and six-year-old dressage horses are particularly exciting. Accordingly, the competitions for the five and six-year-olds are open to all German riding horses. The six best Hannoveraner or Rhinelanders of the Bundeschampionat qualifiers will then meet for the exciting final of the Hannoveraner Dressage Horse Championships.

Tuesday and Wednesday are the qualifying competitions. Thursday is all about the Hannoveraner Champions. On the last day of the Verden Championships it will be particularly exciting, because the Hannoveraner riding, dressage and show jumping horses will go into their finals.
