Auction manager Jörg-Wilhelm Wegener leaves the Hannoveraner Verband

Verden. Jörg-Wilhelm Wegener, auction manager at the Hannoveraner Verband e.V. since 2011, announced last week that he would be terminating his position as head of the training and sales centre in Verden at the end of the year. The entire executive board was informed about this today.

"I have received an interesting offer and, after careful consideration, have accepted it," saaid Jörg-Wilhelm Wegener. For the upcoming sales events of the Hannoveraner Verband in autumn, which is traditionally the season with the highest turnover, he assured the board that he would be available. "I would like to thank the Hannoveraner Verband for the wonderful time and especially for the confidence that the board and the breeders have placed in me," said Jörg-Wilhelm Wegener. He wishes the breeders and exhibitors all the best for the future and will remain positively connected to the Verband even after he has resigned. Not at least as a Hanoverian breeder, he will continue to follow events.

Jörg-Wilhelm Wegener came as auction assistant from the Oldenburg Verband to Verden in 2006 and held the position of deputy auction manager from 2007 to 2011. Altogether he is the fourth auction manager in the seventy-year history of the Verden auctions.
